'FOUR YEARS IS NO DETERRENT'

Grieving mum attacks killer's 'lenient' jail term

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

The family of Mikey Brown, who was stabbed to death at the Works nightclub last year, has criticised the judge for not sending a strong enough message to knife-carrying youngsters.

Claudette Brown, of New Addington, condemned the four-year sentence handed out to Sean Greenidge, 20, of Hilary Avenue, Mitcham, at the Old Bailey last week.

Her son, father-to-be Mikey Brown, was 23 when he was stabbed through the heart during a fight lasting just 40-seconds on June 23 last year.

His son Romarni was born 16 days after his death.

Greenidge, who admitted manslaughter in April, was given an indeterminate sentence on July 17 at the Old Bailey and was told he would serve at least four years, minus the 387 days he has already spent in custody, before he is eligible to be released.

Ms Brown said: "I didn't come to court expecting miracles because I knew that no sentence was ever going to be enough for Mikey."

"The Government is focusing on the wrong things. They want to go into schools and talk to children but when it comes to a sentencing like today and they have a golden opportunity to show kids where carrying a knife will get you - they blow it."

In court it was revealed that Greenidge, who fled to Cyprus after the stabbing, has a previous conviction for carrying a knife at Mitcham Fair in August 2005.

The court heard Greenidge attacked Mr Brown after Greenidge's girlfriend said he had been rude to her at the bar.

Sally Howes QC, prosecuting, said witnesses at the club described seeing Greenidge on top of Mr Brown on the floor and both were "rolling around and swinging at each other" before bouncers responded to a "code red" alert from bar staff and intervened.

Mr Brown had been stabbed with an 8cm (3in) lock knife and died in Kingston Hospital at 3am on June 23.

Ms Brown, who broke down in court when her victim impact statement was read out, said: "I just think the sentence is not sending out a message to anyone."

"The police did their best but this is not going to deter anyone from going out with a knife. That man has ruined my life. When he stabbed Mikey, he stabbed all of us. I will never forgive him."

Jailing Greenidge, Brian Barker, the Common Sergeant of London, said: "This is yet another example of the dreadful consequences that flow from carrying a knife in a public place."

"Mikey Brown would not have died if you had not gone out that night with a knife. This resulted in a totally unnecessary death."

Bailiffs find drugs factory

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Bailiffs called to repossess a Worcester Park house found more than they bargained for when they uncovered a cannabis factory.

Police were then summoned to the unoccupied property in Inverness Road just before midday on Tuesday, July 15.

Officers remained in the quiet residential street until 7.20pm and evidence bags were clearly visible piled up outside.

A spokesman for Sutton police said: "Officers found cannabis plants growing and proceeded to shut the operation down."

"The scene was secured for forensic examination and the plants and drug paraphernalia was removed."

Neighbours spoke of their shock at the discovery of a drugs factory in their street.

One man, who did not want to be named, said: "Bailiffs turned up yesterday to repossess the house and then must have told the police what they had found inside."

"The house has always been rented but recently the clientele had changed."

"They were having a big bonfire and clearing out fur-

Hiding a shocking secret: The Inverness Road property used to harvest cannabis niture and rubbish about six or eight weeks ago and we haven't seen much since."

"It used to be a lovely looking house and has been allowed to go to rack and ruin."

"It was a complete surprise to us this had happened – we've never smelled or seen anything."

Sutton police said no arrests had been made and officers would trawl through documents and letters found in the property.

No more apologies over school places

A Tory move to force Kingston Council's executive to apologise in writing to parents affected by the school places fiasco has been defeated.

Lib Dem executive members insisted they had already done so and voted against making an "unreserved" apology at a meeting last Tuesday.

Six families are still waiting to hear whether they have got their choice of primary school for their children next year. Another 19 parents are deciding between an offer of two places.

Executive member for schools and families Councillor Patricia Bamford told the full council meeting that only three

by DAVID LINDELL

dlindell@london.newsquest.co.uk

parents had contacted her directly and asked for an apology.

She said: "For those people who have contacted me direct and asked for an apology, I have and there were only three."

"Of course I am sorry that people have been distressed. I am in total sympathy but at the end of the day it has been sorted out by a good and dedicated team here in Kingston under our instruction."

Her party leader, Councillor Derek Osbourne, said: "We have already done apologies. We apologised at public meetings. We apologised at executive. I don't know how many times you want us to say we apologise for the stress and concern to parents. We have gone to great lengths to ameliorate that."

Coun Osbourne also said there might be an argument for building a new secondary school in the borough.

He said: "What I said was if data remains consistent there's quite clearly an argument, not a political argument but a real argument, for building a secondary school in the north of the borough and if the data and number of pupils requires it, we will build one."

Asda thieves blasted Assault plea

A pair of meat thieves were chopped down to size in Kingston Magistrates' Court last week, after they pleaded guilty to raiding Asda in London Road, Kingston, on June 9.

Lead magistrate Barbara Scarrott told 35-year-old Colin John Butler, from Chessington, to start acting his age and suggested New Malden-based Kenneth Frank Hartwell should be the "first down the job centre" once his health problems clear up. She told Hartwell his record of 15 previous shoplifting offences was "alarming", but took into consideration the pair's guilty pleas in handing out 15-month conditional discharges and £70 costs.

Mrs Scarrott said: "If you find yourself back in court in the next 15 months it could be prison."

Bradley Murphy pleaded not guilty at Kingston Magistrates' Court on July 17 to assaulting fellow Park Road resident Fiona Fuller. Mr Murphy pleaded not guilty to damaging a cell in Kingston police station by smearing his blood on the walls, pillow and mattress, and to using threatening or abusive language in the station's doctor's room. The 28-year-old is due to return to the court for trial on September 10.

Children were transformed into superheroes last weekend as the Bentall Centre celebrated the release of the new Batman film.

Clubber gets struck by car

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingston police are still appealing for witnesses after a female clubber was seriously injured after she was hit by a car in Thames Street, Kingston.

The 22-year-old woman, from Sutton, was taken to Kingston Hospital in the early hours of Friday, July 11, suffering from back and chest injuries and concussion.

Another man was taken to hospital with a broken thumb and cuts to his head after being hit by a car at 2.30am.

Kingston police were called to reports of a fight involving two groups of men at 2.31am and the London Ambulance Service said it sent a fast response car and three ambulances to the scene. The road was sealed off until 3.40am.

An 18-year-old man from Battersea has been cautioned for affray and released.

Ahmed Alsatarr, 25, from Greenford, has been charged with assault with intent to cause grievous bodily harm and has been remanded in custody until a trial at Kingston Crown Court in September.

Council at war over what 'weekly recycling' means

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Another storm is brewing over Kingston Council's changes to waste collection services, with both main political parties putting out petitions supporting their side.

A Conservative councillor has also been accused of "breaking rank" after he signed both his own party's petition on bin collections and the Liberal Democrat counter-petition.

The main argument revolves around the definition of weekly collections.

The Tory petition, which was delivered to Kingston Council last week, opposed controversial plans to alter the frequency of refuse collections to once a fortnight.

In it, 5,462 people expressed their dissatisfaction at plans to implement a weekly recycling collection and fortnightly

Collecting signatures: The Conservative petition is delivered as Councillor Ian George makes his point refuse collection from September.

Councillor Howard Jones, leader of the Conservatives, said: "The petition has been signed by residents in every part of the borough, so if the Lib Dems now choose to ignore what thousands of people are saying it will be another nail in their coffin when the next local council elections take place in less than two years."

Meanwhile, Tory councillor Ian George said he signed the Lib Dem's counter-petition entitled "I support Kingston Council's plans to keep weekly collections" to make a political point.

"There are currently weekly collections of non-recyclable rubbish and the Lib Dems are abolishing them," he said.

Lib Dem councillor Mary Reid said: "The point about the petition that the Conservatives collected is that it said that rubbish would only be collected once a fortnight in the new system. I think this was a disingenuous way of somehow claiming that recyclables are not rubbish."

Council leader Derek Osbourne said the Tory petition would be considered by the council's executive in October or November.

Junkie's scam fails

A drug addict who pretended he was speaking to the head office of a high street retailer to try to claim a refund on stolen goods was given a community order last week in court.

Williams Kearns, of Green Leas, Sunbury, carried out the "unsophisticated deception" in Superdrug, Victoria Road, on June 17.

Kearns went into the store and tried to get a refund on £73-worth of stolen goods by attempting to make staff think he was speaking to the head office on his mobile phone.

At an earlier hearing at Kingston Magistrates' Court, defence solicitor Mr Harris said the event was fuelled by Kearns' drug dependency.

"The offence occurred because his benefit had run out," he said. "It was an unsophisticated deception."

The 24-year-old was sentenced at Richmond Magistrates' Court on July 14 to a 12-month community order.

He was also ordered to comply with a nine month drug rehabilitation order.

Ticket wardens now out until 10.30pm

by DAVID LINDSELL

dclindsell@london.newsquest.co.uk

Evening parking charges have hit residential streets around Kingston town centre, with parking wardens now patrolling until 10.30pm.

Kingston Council hopes the extra enforcement will protect residents by stopping roads being clogged up by drivers trying to avoid paying to stay in car parks.

But residents fear evening visitors to their homes who used to park on the road will now be hit by hefty fines.

And Kingston Chamber of Commerce has claimed the charges are a "parking tax" to pay for the council's overspend on the Rose Theatre.

Retired binman Brian Weston, 68, said: "I have got friends and family that want to visit and say they can't. Until 6.30pm is fair enough but 10.30pm is ridiculous. All they are interested in is making money."

Knights Park, Surbiton Road, Southsea Road, Acre Road, Canbury Park Road, Cowleaze Road, East Road, Elm Crescent and Elm Grove have all been added to the controlled parking zone.

Councillor Chrissie Hitchcock, chairman of Kingston Town neighbourhood committee, said: "This change will be welcomed by residents in the area who often lose their resident parking spots to drivers leaving their car while they visit the town centre in the evening. I hope this change will also encourage more people to use sustainable transport, such as buses, trains and bicycles, when they visit Kingston in the evening. "But if it is essential to travel to Kingston by car, I hope people will be encouraged to use one of our secure car parks for just £1."

"How I Transformed My Kitchen Without Having to Buy a New One"

"I would recommend Dream Doors every time"

"My kitchen was over 10 years old and looked tatty. I desperately needed a new kitchen but didn't want the cost or upheaval. I had heard good reports of Dream Doors, who specialise in kitchen facelifts, so I decided to give them a try. What an amazing transformation!

As well as fitting brand new doors and worktops, everything was colour co-ordinated and I even gained additional cupboard space. My kitchen has been transformed in just over a day and I saved 60% of the cost of a new one!

I was under no obligation from the initial visit, and the advice and estimate I received were free of charge. There was no mess, no fuss, just plenty of friendly, helpful advice and I didn't need to pay the balance until I was completely satisfied!

RICHMOND OPENS WIDE FOR UK'S FIRST TOOTHBEARY CHILDREN'S DENTAL PRACTICE

Children in Richmond should have plenty to smile about with the arrival of the UK's dedicated children-only dental practice, which opened on the Richmond Road this month.

Toothbeary (think tooth fairy), is exclusively for children aged 0-18yrs and is run by a team of dentists who will provide oral care to children whose parents want them to have positive experience at the dentist. Children who have specific dental problems will also be referred to the practice by other dentists in the Richmond and Twickenham borough. Toothbeary has been specially designed to appeal to children with colourful murals, special, child-friendly benches instead of intimidating dentist chairs and the reassuring presence of Toothbeary, the company's teddy bear mascot to make youngsters feel at home. The concept comes from Germany, where the Toothbeary practice treats more than 30,000 young patients and has been great success.

Dr Nicole Sturzenbaum, clinical director of Toothbeary, explains why the borough has been chosen for the UK launch: "It's a family friendly area and whilst central London isn't too far enough to stop busy mums dragging their kids to practices or hospitals in the city in order to get specialised dental care. We think Toothbeary will meet a genuine local community need and offer valuable advice for parents who want to brush up their skills on looking after their children's teeth from an early age."

Dr Struzenbaum, continues: "Long term oral health is determined in children so if we can work with children and their parents on prevention, rather than simply repairing the damage as adults, the children of Richmond and Twickenham will be more than happy to say @cheese' in the future!"

To find out more about the Toothbeary dental concept or to book an appointment You can visit their website at www.toothbeary.com or contact them on 020 8831 6870

What would you like to see more or less of in the newspaper? What do you think of the design, the look and the photographs?

What about the adverts? Which are attractive, well designed, effective, and which ones are an unwelcome distraction?

It is questions like these, and more, that will help us to give you the best possible read we can.

By joining the panel and giving your opinion, you can directly contribute to the development and success of the Kingston Guardian, and ensure we produce the best possible editorial content based on what local people want, in conjunction with effective, useful advertising from our commercial partners.

Dragons roar in river race

Kingston's annual dragon boat festival got off to a roaring start on Sunday as the sun shined on the 39 teams taking part in the river spectacle.

After last year's event was postponed until October because of a fast tidal flow on the Thames, organisers Kingston Rotary Club breathed a sigh of relief as the event went off without a hitch on July 20.

The sponsored boats were all raising money for Born Too Soon, Kingston Hospital's neonatal unit, and more than 3,000 spectators came out to enjoy the Sunday sun and watch the excitement unfold.

Keith Maund, from Kingston Rotary Club, said the event was a great success and, after 39 heats, six hours of racing and a grand finale, Kingston Rugby Club were crowned champions, beating a team from the Canbury Arms pub in Kingston by just a fraction of a second.

They picked up a trophy from the mayor of Kingston Councillor David Berry.

"It was a really great day and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves," he said. "We had some great costumes and a team from Reside Housing Association in Old London Road won the best dressed category for racing in hula skirts."

"The teams all put in great times so the spectators certainly had quite an exciting day of racing to watch."

Plans for next year are already under way and the Rotary Club has earmarked July 19 for the next event.

On board the festival Tardis

It will be a party with a difference when Kingston celebrates its 800th birthday this autumn, when a special exhibition charting the town's festival history is launched.

Festival will open at Kingston Museum in Wheatfield Way on July 26 and will feature hundreds of exhibits looking at Kingston festivals past and present, from the earliest Kyngham games of medieval times to the multicultural carnivals of today.

The exhibition was organised to commemorate the 800th anniversary of Kingston's charter, signed by King John on September 23, 1208.

by ALITA HOWE
ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

ber 23, 1208.

The museum has scoured its archives and worked with local groups to compile the collection, which will be on display until October 18.

Faith groups including Kingston Mosque, Kingston Liberal Synagogue and St Raphael's Church, Surbiton, were interviewed about their faiths' festivals and how they are celebrated in Kingston.

Excerpts from the interviews will be played at the exhibition and groups have loaned ceremonial items to the exhibition.

Our sister paper the Surrey Comet's archives have also been raided and a selection of photos from Kingston events it has covered will be on show.

Caroline Cornish, heritage assistant at Kingston Museum, said: "We wanted to find out how different faiths have adapted their festival traditions to living in Kingston and people have donated some fabulous costumes such as someone's favourite Diwali outfit."

"It's great that we have combined our ancient archive material with right up to date photos from this year's May Merrie - it should be a fantastic exhibition."

The exhibition has six themes, including pageants and processions, royal visits and civic ceremonies. Visitors will be able to see the original 1208 charter, Kingston's oldest archive document.

Peta Cook, curator of Kingston Museum, said: "In this exhibition we have aimed to represent the diversity of Kingston's population and to show that we in Kingston know how to party."

For details, visit kingston.gov.uk/museum, or call 020 8547 6463.

Those were the days: This year's festival will look at the costumes of the past

Thumbs up for summer

A weekly programme of children's activities to stave off the summer boredom is being launched in Kingston this week.

Thumbs Up It's Thursday is a six-week series of free events organised by Kingstonfirst during the summer holidays, for children between three and 11.

Ten town centre venues including Kingston Museum, Bentalls and the Rotunda will hold events including storytelling, crafts and music every Thursday afternoon from July 24 to August 28.

Each week is themed and the programme starts with an Along the River focus where children can meet a pirate in John Lewis, or take part in a craft session in Memorial Gardens.

For full details of the programme, visit kingstonfirst.co.uk

Battle-ready at work for TA's anniversary

To mark the 100th anniversary of the Territorial Army (TA), a part-time soldier from Kingston joined others countrywide in wearing his uniform to work.

Signaller Robert Finnegan, a Hook Territorial, joined in the celebrations on July 16 by turning up to his Ministry of Justice workplace in full uniform.

The Prime Minister officially announced the day in Parliament.

Signaller Finnegan, 31, said: "I

by LOUISE ROBERTSON

lrobertson@london.newsquest.co.uk joined the Territorial Army after the 7/7 attacks as one of the buses was blown up only a few hundred metres from my sister and my cousin.

"It's such a rewarding thing to do and you get to meet people from many different backgrounds. I am wearing my uniform to work to show my colleagues and the public how proud I am of being in the TA."

The TA is unique in that soldiers can fulfil a military role which complements their civilian employment.

A Ministry of Justice spokesman said: "We have encouraged Robert to wear his uniform to work on Wednesday to show our support for the British armed forces and the excellent work they do. Robert's involvement brings additional skills to his role in our business."

School choir raise the roof for church funds

The sounds of a school choir filled All Saints Church, in Kingston, on Wednesday, raising £900 for an appeal to help restore the historic building.

Tiffin Boys' Choir performed a special preview of a programme of music before they departed on a summer tour of Germany.

Audiences were treated to classics including Britten's Rejoice in the Lamb and Bernstein's Chichester Psalms at the concert, on July 16.

Rector Jonathan Wilkes said: "I have been saying to everyone for weeks that the Tiffin Boys' Choir are at the top of their considerable form and they have proved me right. We wish them every success on their tour of Germany."

For more information about the All Saints appeal, call Keith Long on 020 8546 5964 or email allsaintsappeal@tiscali.co.uk.

Conditions of Acceptance of Advertisements for Newsquest Media Group

General

The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to an advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that: i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person; ii) all licenses and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise); iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, an authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline").

An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.

13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.

14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.

15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

METHOD OF PAYMENT

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods:

In partnership with Kingston Council

Honours for little green fingers

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

Two Kingston primary schools have set a shining example in environmental excellence and have been presented with an award by London Mayor Boris Johnson.

Our Lady Immaculate School in Ewell Road, Tolworth, and Fern Hill Primary School in Richmond Road, Kingston, both scooped prizes at the London Environment Awards, which were held at City Hall on July 10.

Our Lady Immaculate were awarded a distinction and picked up a £2,000 cheque, while Fern Hill claimed a highly commended award and a £1,000 prize.

The event, now in its fifth year, was hosted by TV presenter and wildlife photographer Chris Packham.

More than 580 schools from across the capital's 33 boroughs entered and this year's theme was learning how litter, graffiti and noise can have a negative impact on the capital's environment.

Sister Josephine Goggin, headteacher at Our Lady Immaculate, said the staff and pupils were "absolutely delighted" to win the award.

She said: "It's absolutely vital that children have an awareness of how we can create a sustainable future and are aware of their impact on the environment."

The school has been busy teaching pupils about sustainable development and introduced fruit bins in the playground, the contents of which were used for compost for the environmental garden.

This was designed entirely by pupils to transform a piece of waste ground on the school site and was built mainly by staff and parents working on Saturdays.

Pupils also grow their own potatoes, tomatoes and beans and the school has invested in recycling bins.

Sister Josephine said: "We're going to recycle the money back into developing the garden more by buying some benches so it is a place not only for the children to relax but where they can have lessons as well."

Mr Johnson said: "There has been a wonderful response to this year's London School Environment Awards and the enthusiasm shown by the young green champions in Kingston is really encouraging."

"Not only have they set a great example to all Londoners, young and old, they have, thanks to their parents and teachers, learned at a young age the importance of caring for their environment."

Have a say on the future of recycling

Kingston Council is urging residents to get involved in a consultation this autumn about the future of recycling and landfill sites for the borough.

In partnership with Croydon, Merton and Sutton councils, Kingston is preparing the South London Waste Plan, which will look at where the facilities that process household and business waste could be located in the future.

At last month's executive meeting, Kingston Council agreed to seek the views of residents and businesses on the plan and are inviting people to sign up to attend a series of workshops that will take place from September.

Following feedback from residents and businesses, the South

London Waste Plan will identify potential locations for new waste management facilities across the four boroughs.

It will also set out a range of policies on how to manage all waste in the most environmentally-friendly way possible.

There are currently 14 facilities within the four boroughs which manage waste.

These facilities can currently manage just over 745,000 tonnes per year, but by 2021 the four boroughs will generate an estimated 1.4m tonnes per year, meaning extra facilities will be required.

Councillor Simon James, executive member for planning and regeneration said: "The South London Waste Plan will set the WATER TALK: The Consumer Council for Water wants people to have a say on plans for how the rising demand for water in the next 25 years will be met. Individuals now use an average of 150l (40gal) of water per day, and usage has grown by 1 per cent year on year since 1930.

David Bland, chairman of the Consumer Council for Water, London and south-east, said: "We want to be sure that water companies are investing in the projects that consumers see as a priority."

AIRLINE 'MADNESS': Richmond Park MP Susan Kramer is furious at reports that flight operator BMI is to fly near-empty aircraft from the autumn to protect their flight slots. She called this move towards ghost flights "madness" and has written to the Government and BAA calling for the flight slots system to be changed to prevent the situation from continuing.

FEATHERED FORTUNES: A survey by the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds has found numbers of starlings, cuckoos and willow warblers have dropped by half since 1994.

The startling figures come from the latest breeding bird survey carried out by the charity but it is not all doom and gloom, because it appears numbers of buzzards and woodpeckers are on the increase.

The RSPB's Hester Phillips said: "These annual surveys are a yearly health check on our natural heritage, a barometer revealing the fortunes of the birds we treasure and enjoy around us."

The Big Picture

A British company is poised to construct the world's first floating wind turbine, in a move that could herald a new generation of cheaper, less problematic wind energy.

Blue H aims to anchor its prototype device 12 miles off the coast of southern Italy later this month. The turbines benefit from more powerful winds and avoid many of the issues that afflict existing wind farms.

Mikey's mum: Killer's sentence won't stop knives

The mum of Mikey Brown, who was stabbed to death in a Kingston nightclub, says the four-year sentence given to his killer won't stop anyone carrying a knife.

Only four years for ending someone's life with a knife? Is that a sick joke? No wonder anarchy rules in the UK.

Les Surrey

He's already done 387 days so really he will only do about 2 half years.

You might as well let him out!
I think it's disgusting. This sentence won't bring Mikey back, also just think of his family – a lifetime without him and his baby to grow up never knowing him

Louise Surrey

We need tougher sentences... bring back life for life... there's no plausible reason as to why you would carry a knife or gun without intent to injure or kill someone. Giving someone with such intentions four years in jail is only encouraging them and others to follow suit.

Kingston targeted by 'flying developers'

Eagle-eyed developers are flying over Kingston to spy out vulnerable homes ripe for cramming six or seven flats on, a councillor has said.

Sadly, there will always be people in this world who are motivated by greed.

Changes to train station zone locations off track

Further to writing to South West Trains in relation to the zonal locations of Kingston and Surbiton stations, I was informed that it is unlikely they would consider changing the statutes of these stations. South West Trains signed up to a new 10-year franchise with the Department for Transport from February 4, 2007, with the existing revenue streams as their base line – any change to these would be borne solely by the franchisee. The zonal location of each station was agreed some 25 years ago and these have changed relatively little since that time. Wherever the zonal boundaries are drawn, there will always be arguments for either moving these further out or moving the location of individual stations inwards. Greater London did not develop in an even nature – rather it reflects the boundaries of each of the 33 boroughs that fall within London. If stations moved they would simply have to raise the price of other zonal travel-card combinations to cover the loss of revenue.

Helping the children's home: Sincere thank you for annual collection funding

With my thanks for publishing my earlier reports may I again ask your help in giving my sincere thanks to the folk of New Malden, through the columns of your newspaper, for the response to the annual NCH house-to-house collection during June.

The total of £859.63 was raised from the 17 roads we were able to cover.

I am sorry we are not able to collect in every road in the village and if you did not get a visit from a collector or were not in when the collector called and would like to make a donation to this very worthwhile cause then please send it to me – R P

Bridges, 1 Egmont Road, New Malden KT3 4AS – making your cheque or postal order payable to NCH. I will gladly acknowledge any gift if you give me your name and address.

NCH (formerly the National Children's Home) helps more than 178,000 children, young people and their families in need in nearly 500 projects in Britain including Warren Park in Kingston Hill, which is a home and day centre for disabled children in the borough.

Thank you for your co-operation.

Council leader: Rose theatre costs justified

Following the scrutiny meeting regarding the Rose Theatre, I would like to set the record straight regarding the capital project works, the future rent payable by Kingston Theatre Trust and their legal right to be there.

KTT occupies the theatre under the terms of an existing agreement with the council which was entered into in 2001.

The cost of the capital project for the fitting out of the theatre, however, has no direct bearing on the revised terms of the lease that have been offered to KTT now that the fitting out works are complete.

The terms of the lease offering a six-month rent-free period and thereafter for rent to be payable in arrears simply reflects the need for KTT to fully establish itself during its first year of operation and this is entirely consistent with council decisions.

The council's investment in establishing a theatre is fully justified in terms of the significant social and economic benefits it will provide.

The comments made by Conservative Councillor Nick Kilby simply amount to an appeal to those who are, and always have been, opposed to the theatre, and against the council's investment in bringing about the social and economic benefits that a successful theatre will deliver for the town centre as a whole.

DEREK OSBOURNE
Leader of Kingston Council

Tolworth hotel plan an 'unfortunate' decision

Mr Nursey sets out much of what Tesco's intentions for Tolworth would mean if permitted but I am not sure why he expects the council to comment, especially now.

The working group he has attended with other residents plus observers, including from the council, is an unofficial exercise. Real consultation begins after their fresh planning application, on which bodies concerned with the issues he raises will surely comment, as before.

However, I gather that the council has had informal discussions with Tesco resulting in the company's identification in an exhibit at the June 17 group session of the council-owned site at the corner of Kingston Road and Jubilee Way for the leisure centre reported in this paper on July 2. If Mr Nursey was confused by the council, I could understand.

A strategic planner in the council chief executive's office advised the relevant council neighbourhood committees that an application by CNM Estates for a hotel between the would-be sports centre and Tesco's main site in Hook Rise South should not progress "pending a comprehensive review of development options for key Tolworth sites", including the council one.

Councillors have recommended to the development control committee meeting on July 23 that the hotel proceed. This seems unfortunate.

MICHAEL R HOPE
Tolworth

On Wednesday, July 9, my parents and I were crossing Hampton Court Bridge at about 3.15pm, on our way to the flower show.

Unfortunately, my mother fell. In the pouring rain several people stopped to offer help. One gentleman called an ambulance, a blanket was found to cover her and four people stood holding umbrellas over her and me. They stayed for the half-hour that it took for the emergency services to arrive, establish the extent of the damage and get her into an ambulance. My dad and I thanked them at the time, but failed to ask for names.

So – to the man who phoned the ambulance and supplied the blanket, the ladies who held umbrellas, the two exhibitors from the flower show; the two traffic wardens who directed traffic for the ambulance to have access; the St John Ambulance men, and the staff at Kingston Hospital in accident and emergency, Clarendon ward and especially Dr J Young, a very huge thanks from all three of us.

Mum is back at home in Gloucester now, on the road to recovery. It was not the day we hoped for, but we are all very touched by the kindness and care you have shown us.

Housing problems must be addressed

Councillor Shelton claims that tenants would pay no more if we became housing association tenants.

As she will know, the Government is forcing councils to raise their rents to harmonise them with housing associations, so clearly there is a difference. This policy is no doubt designed to counter one of the advantages of council housing, namely that it is cheaper to provide and thus rents can be lower.

Nevertheless, the Government has set higher target rents for housing associations than councils. Even an extra £5 or £10 a week can be enough to make life hard for those in low-paid jobs and a powerful disincentive to those considering coming off housing benefit and getting into work.

Even though rents don't have to reach the target rent until 2012, the council has decided to put new tenants on it immediately. I suspect they have done this just to bolster their argument that housing association rents aren't any higher, with no regard to the inequity this will cause, with some tenants paying more than their neighbours for an identical property.

Another point that Coun Shelton carefully avoids by only referring to rent, is that service charges tend to be higher with housing associations. It seems the council has thought of this though and is considering increasing those as well.

How are we to believe that Coun Shelton wants to fight to protect our council housing, when she refuses to acknowledge the problems with housing associations?

Where is the justice in below-inflation pay rise?

Your report on Unison being forced to take strike action at Newent House day centre is very worrying.

Compassion is a crucial quality for caring for the vulnerable and should be the aim of all managers in senior posts.

The senior Kingston Council officials, in the last two years, have received a 29 per cent increase in their salary, while the carers and other persons on the lowest salary scale are offered a wage rise below inflation. Where is the justice?

Our immediate carers who have to cope with the problems face-to-face, and do so admirably, deserve better treatment and I call upon our richer mandarins with some of our town hall representatives to compensate carers.

Justice and peace please.

Moving on for a new challenge

Reverend Johnny Pozzo, 43, has just taken over as the new minister of New Malden Baptist Church, having moved from a church in Reigate. He spoke to Alita Howe about his plans to work with the community and how a music tape changed his life.

What is the interview process like for a ministry job?

I had been at Reigate Baptist Church for 10 years and felt it was time to move on but didn't share that with anyone.

I went to walk the Great Wall of China last year to raise awareness and funds for charity Christian Solidarity Worldwide, which is based in Mottspur Park, when I was on sabbatical.

They asked whether I had thought of moving on. I was later invited to the area and told they had a new church for me, so it all came about through a recommendation really.

Why did New Malden appeal?

I wanted to take on a new challenge and sometimes you can get too comfortable. I'd been the number two for a number of years.

How are you finding it so far?

It is a very friendly and welcoming community and the church is very different to my previous one in Reigate.

That was a new church. New Malden has over 140 years of history, which is great.

The church has some ambitious future plans, doesn't it?

Yes, we're hoping to completely redevelop the site, which will cost £2m. It will be a huge project but I am fully behind it because I think it is so important to have a facility that is user-friendly and somewhere we can invite the community into.

The project has been under way for nearly four years and we've raised £700,000 from within the church community.

What attracted you to the ministry? Was it a lifelong ambition?

No. I worked in a plumber's merchants and only became a Christian when I was 22.

My mother had become a Christian when I was 13 and one night I had come in from the pub and disagreed with my mother about having a drink.

She asked me to sort out a cassette that was stuck in the tape recorder and it had worship songs on it.

As soon as I listened to the words and music, I was overwhelmed, started crying and my mother came in and found me on my knees.

After that, I started going to church and then went to Spurgeon's College in Norwood where I did a three year ministry course.

Aspiring: Rev Johnny Pozzo

What are your plans for the future?

I want Christianity to be relevant and mass connect with the here and now.

I really want to interact with the community and organise events where we can show them that the church can be relevant and is an exciting place to be.

Isle of Wight – small but perfectly formed

The Isle of Wight offers a small slice of England in a sun-kissed area just 27 miles across and 13 miles deep.

It has everything from the tranquillity of its villages and stunning countryside – almost half of which is designated an area of national beauty – to the vibrancy of its extreme sports opportunities and international events. It is also working hard to become the greenest county in England, adding a new dimension to its tourism appeal.

The island is one of the UK's sunniest places. This is not just good news for those who love the outdoors – it also helps create ideal growing conditions the results of which can be tasted in the huge range of local produce eaten and sipped in local restaurants and hostellers.

There is much to do on the island to work up a thirst. Besides the 500 miles of marked footpaths and 200 miles of cycle routes, there is a packed programme of annual events and a host of historic, cultural and fun, family attractions.

Popular yearly events include the world famous Cowes Week regatta in August, the IW Festival in June and the Festival in September. There is May's IW Walking Festival comprising around 260 themes hikes, the IW Cycling Festival in September and the White Air Extreme Sports Festival and the annual IW Garlic Festival both in September.

For the more studious, there are medieval castles, Queen Victoria's palace at Osborne (english-heritage.org.uk) and Roman villas to explore. The island's prehistoric history is brought to life at Dinosaur Isle in Sandown (dinosaurisle.com) with its recreated landscape enhanced by sights, smells and sounds of the dinosaurs that once roamed the county.

Among the many popular attractions are Blackgang Chine complete with its famous hedge maze and spectacular white-knuckle cliff-top rollercoaster ride (blackgangchine.com), the Isle of Wight Steam Railway (iwsteam-railway.co.uk) that captures the golden age of the steam train and Robin Hill Country Park that offers a varied day out for families of all ages with activities including a new adventure playground.

Because of its broad appeal, a diverse selection of accommodation providers has also evolved to cater for all tastes from boutique hotels and royal houses to coastal cottages and vintage trailers. There are even establishments where you can tap into your mystical side or explore your inner self as well as eco friendly hotels and, of course, B&Bs, holiday parks and camp sites (islandbreaks.co.uk, greenislandtourism.org).

In recent months, the island has also been working towards becoming eco island – with the lowest carbon footprint in England and self sufficient in renewable electricity.

This ethos has given a new impetus to green tourism industry and entries into the annual Green Tourism Awards continue to grow.

A key strand of the eco island vision involves working with the industry to promote the island's green credentials and with travel operators to maximise use of public transport by visitors both in arriving at the island and then moving around the destination.

The island has been working extremely closely with South West Trains whose services bring visitors to the very doorstep of eco island – the stations of Southampton Central, Portsmouth Harbour and Lymington Pier where passengers can catch ferries to the island. Train services on the island also serve its tourism heartland from Ryde Pier Head, via the island's steam railway, the historic town of Brading and Lake to the resorts of Sandown and Shanklin – two of the island's three Blue Flag beaches.

It really never has been easier to get to the island. There are regular crossings from Portsmouth Harbour, Lymington Pier (wightlink.co.uk) and Southampton (redfunnel.co.uk). Hovertravel runs a fast and regular service between Southsea and Ryde (hovertravel.co.uk). You can purchase both your rail and ferry tickets together at southwesttrain.co.uk/iw.

For further information on the island and how to get here, Visit islandbreaks.co.uk or call 01983 813813 for full details.

Slick action: An oil spill is affecting swans in Kingston

Deadlinepix HY1744

Oil injures swans

by ALITA HOWE

ahowe@london.newsquest.co.uk

An oil spill which injured a dozen swans in Kingston last week is being investigated by the Environment Agency (EA).

Officers from the Environment Agency were at the scene of the spill, which took place between Westfield Landing, Portsmouth Road and Charter Quay on July 14.

A member of the public alerted the agencies and a thorough clean-up was co-ordinated by the EA using absorbent booms and clean up pads.

A "significant amount" of oil was found on the surface of the river and some had blown on to nearby boats.

Mike Denbigh, EA team leader, said: "On arrival we immediately took steps to limit the oil spreading and started to clean up some of the spillage."

"We are actively monitoring the site to ensure that the spread of the contamination has been contained."

A nearby swan sanctuary has taken in some birds.

"I would like to reassure people that we take all such spillages seriously and will be investigating the circumstances which have led to this pollution."

"Thames Water has been very helpful in assisting us with our investigations in tracking down the source of the pollution."

The EA wants anyone who spots an environmental incident to call its free-phone hotline on 0800 807060.

Doddy goes... back to old school

“Did you know a laugh is something that comes out of your face? Anywhere else and you’re in dead trouble”

“How dare you!” exclaims Ken Dodd in mock indignation to the suggestion he should hang up his tickling stick, give his Diddy Men voluntary redundancy, and close down the jam-buttie mines.

“Why should I when I love every second of doing my job?”

You get the impression that for Dodd – booked to play to a sell-out crowd at Kingston’s Rose Theatre on Sunday night – performing is his life, not just a profession. And, being part of his DNA, something he is unable to turn his back on.

Legendary five-hour live performances are common and his shows are often preceded with warnings such as, “this event is anticipated to finish around midnight”.

THEATRE: Ken Dodd, Rose Theatre, Kingston

“I think I have only had one day off in my entire career – and that was for suspected pneumonia,” he says.

“I was back on stage the next night with a mustard patch on my chest.

“The doctor insisted I wore it but all the stage hands kept rubbing their ham sandwiches on it, so it had to go!”

Old-school humour? Maybe.

And, admittedly, some of Dodd’s jokes are so old they were no doubt being bandied around school playgrounds even before the comic – once voted “the greatest Merseysider of all time” – started in showbusiness more than 50 years ago.

But somehow it doesn’t matter. This is Doddy, for God’s sake! A legend.

Jokes are all about the delivery and a good comedian can make bad jokes work.

Not that all of Dodd’s jokes are old – his act is a mix of everything. And who cares that many of his cultural references are from the 1970s and 80s. The guy’s funny. That’s all you need to know.

And Dodd has no time for the swearing, ranting style of some of the newer comedians.

“Far too much emphasis is placed on vulgar material,” he says.

“Sadly, swearing is being passed off as comedy.

“My audience certainly don’t want to be embarrassed or insulted with below-the-belt humour.

“There was more art to comedy years ago. Comics were masters of their craft and today there are precious few places to learn that craft.”

A bill-topper for most of his career – Dodd has starred in numerous Royal Variety Shows and record-breaking seasons at the London Palladium and Blackpool Opera House – he describes being “absolutely discumknocked” to be bringing his Happiness Show to the Rose.

“Did you know that a laugh is something that comes out of a hole in your face?” he says. “Anywhere else and you are in dead trouble!”

And he’s right, by jove!

Ken Dodd plays the Rose Theatre, Kingston, on Sunday, July 27. The event has sold out but there may be return tickets. Call the box office on 0871 230 1552 for details.

The chaotic world of backstage theatre hits the front of stage this week when Ronald Harwood's behind-the-scenes exposé The Dresser arrives at Riverhouse.

A thinly veiled account of his time as backstage lackey for revered actor Sir Donald Wolfit, the play flits between dressing room, stage and wings.

And producer Richard Parish reveals it may not quite be what the audience expects.

He says: "We are going to do it almost in the round. "We will be playing it with the dressing room in the middle.

"The main action is in the dressing room but there are also scenes in the wings, so we have to show these areas and that is quite difficult.

"The action pretty much will be taking place around the audience."

Parish is producer for the Lighted Fools company, which has staged an array of local productions through the years.

And the veteran theatrical guru is delighted with his current position.

He adds: "I was in teaching for nearly 40 years but

Dresser to impress

THEATRE:
The Dresser,
Riverhouse,
Walton-on-Thames

Simon Fitzjohn

was always interested in the theatre.

"I wanted to bring small-scale productions into smaller venues.

"I wanted to use actors whom I have worked with in the past and that is how things have worked out.

"The aim was always for small, low-key shows and that is where we are at."

And that desire for low-scale, interesting theatre has led to The Dresser, with the small cast of seven relishing their roles.

And Parish is convinced the audience will have plenty to savour. He insists: "It is a straight play but it is also very funny in places.

"It is all about backstage life and it gives a very good insight.

"Anyone interested in theatre or acting will love it."

EXHIBITIONS:
Diana McKinnon,
Fountain Gallery,
East Molesey

Simon Fitzjohn

The picturesque city of Venice has inspired a wealth of talented artists through the years and Diana McKinnon is another name to add to that burgeoning list.

The textile artist has crafted an impressive resumé thanks to her technique of using the effect of colour and light on landscapes.

And now the south-east London talent is bringing her work to Fountain Gallery for an exhibition entitled Fusions of Colour.

Asked for her inspiration, McKinnon explains: "I am an experienced traveller and the natural beauty in the landscapes and surfaces I have seen lend themselves well to the media I work with.

"For example, my travels to Australia and New Zealand have led me to experiment with layering Lurex and chiffon to reflect the vibrancy of the scenery colours."

And this is where Venice comes in, with McKinnon admitting to switching her tack from historically-based work covering Crete and ancient Greece to the architecture of the Italian city.

For her most recent work, she is also channeling the influences of her favourite artists, Mackintosh, Monet and Klimt.

McKinnon she reveals the backdrop to her creations, adding: "The treatments I use are stitching, free-machine embroidery, melting, burned edges, and distressed fabric.

"A key feature is the layering of different fabrics which achieves two kinds of effect – depth of colour and vision – and it also removes sections of the material to reveal the colours below."

McKinnon will also be joined by Surrey artist Chris Richards, who will be supplying a number of his wood sculptures to accompany the exhibition.

Considering he has a single and debut album on the horizon, north London reggae exponent Natty is an incredibly laidback chap.

Just check this quote from his MySpace page: "Quit the studio life in search of a dream... started doing open mics... got mad love, got taken seriously, got signed, got a band together.... toured loads, recorded my album.... so here I am, living the dream!"

As he says himself, when discussing his club night, Vibes and Pressure: "I wanted to start a vibe, a movement, and bring on musicians who should be better known."

"I wasn't interested in record labels who said they wanted to turn me into a star. That's for the people to decide."

Born to a mother from

GIGS: Natty,
Banquet Records,
Kingston

Simon Fitzjohn

Lesotho and an English father, Natty had an eclectic slate of tunes as the backdrop to his formative years.

Motown, soul, reggae, even Pink Floyd and Bob Dylan dominated the family stereo and left such an impact that Natty moved into sound engineering when leaving school.

But, after working with a string of indie-rock acts that included Razorlight, the 24-year-old decided that wasn't his cup of tea.

Picking up a guitar and starting to write songs was, as he admits, "just a hobby", but after gathering together a four-piece band and hitting the London scene it wasn't long before the label bigwigs came calling.

And here we have it – with debut album Man Like I bouncing into shops in August, and with a clutch of festival appearances under his belt, it is little surprise that Natty (who swiped his moniker from the Bob Marley album, if you hadn't already guessed) is tipped for big things.

His pop-reggae fusion, swept along on a wave of breezy, ska-tinged acoustics, is the perfect soundtrack for a lazy summer day – so best catch the talented smoothie now.

Natty, instore appearance, Banquet Records, Kingston, July 28, 6pm, free, call 020 8549 5871.

Making Contacts count

For a band that hail from as far afield as Edinburgh and Yeovil, it may seem strange to hear them proclaiming Kingston as the hub of new British music – but Stephen H Davidson, of indie-rockers Tellison, insists this is the case.

Vocalist/guitarist Davidson is one of the driving forces behind the five-piece. And ahead of his New Slang gig he says, "We owe a lot to Kingston. I got into music through Banquet Records and watching gigs at The Peel. Kingston feels like a creative hub for us."

"I think New Slang is the best new music club in Britain."

Davidson is joined by Peter Phillips (guitar/vocals), Andrew Tickell (bass/vocals), Benjamin Wood (keyboards/vocals) and Henry Danowski (drums) in the band who are currently recording follow-up material to their 2007 album Contact! Contact!

Three of the band met at school, with other members rotating until a settled line-up saw things take off in 2005. But Davidson admits it was the reaction to the album that made them realise they were going places: "The first pressing sold out on day one, which was unreal."

Tellison is one of the bands at the forefront of the MySpace revolution, having twice been proclaimed the site's band to watch.

And they are using that as the launchpad for a joint tour with Tubelord, which sees the band release a split 7" single on July 28.

But Davidson reveals the internet frenzy poses as many problems as solutions: "It is great to be on MySpace and build an audience. But it seems a lot more difficult now to break into the business."

"Music labels seem a lot more tied down by the fact CD sales are down and seem to think taking a chance on a young band is too much of a risk."

"For us, though, it is all about the music and that enthusiasm gives you the fire to keep struggling."

INVESTOR IN PEOPLE

BECOME A MULTI-SKILLED ENERGY ASSESSOR

By law trained Energy Assessors will need to carry out an estimated 3 million Energy Assessments in the year from this October - 200,000 commercial buildings, 1.8 million homes being rented and 1.1 million being sold (2.1m in normal house sale years).

Applicants are therefore required to train now - no previous surveying experience is required - at our London, Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester training centres which are approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment. The subsidised training is taken in separately bookable 1-week modules usually around current commitments and you qualify as a multi-skilled Domestic and Commercial Energy Assessor, Flood Risk Assessor and Home Inspector.

Homes now being sold already require Assessments with average fees of £70 being paid to our Assessors - fees for the 1.8m rented homes from October are expected to be similar. Fees for currently optional Home Inspections average £250 - commercial Assessments are expected to be higher. Up to 15 domestic Assessments or 6 commercial Assessments or Home Inspections are estimated to be carried out in a week, subject to size of properties and supply. As well as thousands of Assessors carrying out Energy Assessments, 7500 Home Inspectors will be needed upon Government making Home Inspections compulsory - less than a thousand are currently certified.

Regardless of the 'credit crunch' these new 'green' laws and 3 million Assessments are creating a rapidly expanding new industry which you could join, subject to interview and Aptitude test. So apply now for subsidised training and to start a new career carrying out this environmentally important work with potential multiple income stream opportunities.

ONSLow-COLE READY FOR OULTON PARK TEST

Chessington are on top

Chessington climbed to the top of Surrey Championship Division Three after their sixth win of the season on Saturday, a six-wicket victory over bottom side Cranleigh.

Youngster Taidh Randall and Luke Carter starred with the ball as Cranleigh struggled to make an impact, having been put into bat, eventually making 157.

Chessington felt they should chase the target comfortably, and so it proved.

Nick Bailey (31) and Andy White (52) put Chessy well on their way.

Carter's 23 from 17 balls took the score past 100 before Yarnley (27) and Chris Norton (10) quickly knocked off the final few runs to give Chessington the 13 points and a place at the division's summit.

Keeping faith

New Malden's Tom Onslow-Cole will keep faith with his pre-race route at Oulton Park this weekend despite seeing his British Touring Car title challenge slip away.

A second weekend without a podium finish at Snetterton a fortnight ago has left the 21-year-old 63 points adrift of leader Fabrizio Giovanardi.

"I will be getting in the factory as normal and analysing the data to make sure we get the set-up right," said Onslow-Cole.

"Oulton is a good circuit for us. We have been strong everywhere else and there is no reason why I can't get a strong points finish there.

"I will be following the same procedures I have been for the last couple of weekends."

Bobby's back to his best

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian striker Bobby Traynor has played down his flying start to the pre-season programme, but admits he could be the chief beneficiary of boss Alan Dowson's summer recruitment drive.

The 24-year-old has bagged four goals in two games, including a hat-trick in Saturday's 3-2 win over Chessington & Hook.

Traynor was dogged by a niggling ankle injury last season, but still finished the season as the club's leading scorer, with 23 goals in all competitions.

Dowson has added Jon Neal, Sol Patterson-Bohner, Max Hus-twick and Adam Thompson to his squad this summer and is looking to bring in one of two strikers he is still tracking.

But the club's current hot-shot believes any more new faces would only be fine tuning a squad already capable of challenging at the top of the table this season.

"It is always nice to get off to a good start. You don't want to be waiting too long to find the back of the net," he said.

"Everyone is still a bit short of match fitness at the moment, but things are coming together really well and we should have a strong side by the start of the season.

"Alan has strengthened in most areas and, hopefully, that will mean I get a few more chances coming my way this season. I'm confident if I get the chances, I'll get the goals.

"It is tough to explain where we went wrong last year. I think consistency was the main problem, because on our day we can beat anyone in this league."

Left wing-back Nick Rundell notched three himself in a 5-1 triumph over a select Chessington & Hook XI prior to Traynor's heroics at the Kings College Sports Ground on Saturday. The 26-year-old was hampered last season by an ankle injury picked up during pre-season training in 2007, but appears back to his best.

But assistant boss Mark Hamms insists neither results or the team's goalscoring exploits are catching his eye.

"Of course, we want to win games, but I'm more interested in players showing us they want to play for the club," he said.

"What people are doing off the ball is an important part of that."

Super six all set for Beijing

Surbiton's six Great Britain Olympic players began their Olympic adventure this week, flying to the BOA holding camp in Macau ahead of the tournament in Beijing next month.

All six managed to avoid last-minute injuries in the two recent preparation games, played at the Braxgata Hockey Club, near Antwerp, last Thursday and Friday evenings.

Great Britain, ranked eighth in the world, first drew 1-1 and then lost 3-1 against hosts Belgium, who are ranked 14th.

Surbiton's James Tindall scored both GB goals. He will be joined in Beijing by club-mates Richard Alexander, Matt Daly, Ben Hawes, Ben Marsden and Rob Moore.

How a 5 minute pit stop led to better hearing

“ A friend recommended David Ormerod Hearing Centres and I have been absolutely delighted with the hearing aids and the service I have received. ”

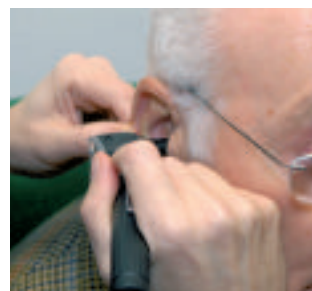

Fondly known as the voice of motor racing, Murray Walker's effervescent and enthusiastic style of television commentary drew many fans to Formula One motor racing over the past three decades. But the years of exposure to extremely loud engines came at a price for Murray as he discovered that this, along with age-related hearing problems, had contributed to lasting hearing loss in both ears. Everyday tasks such as socialising and talking on the telephone became difficult. But it was Murray's wife Elizabeth who really made him realise the extent of the problem and encouraged him to do something about it. Now Murray has hearing aids from David Ormerod Hearing Centres and his quality of life has drastically improved.

Murray says: "My wife would regularly pick me up on my hearing, particularly about the volume of the television. I could hear but I just couldn't hear clearly and distinguish speech. Group situations or busy restaurants were the hardest. I managed, just, but it wasn't easy." He explains: "A friend recommended David Ormerod Hearing Centres and I have been absolutely delighted with my hearing aids and the service I have received. It appealed to me that they were based in NHS hospitals and in Boots stores so I trusted them from the start." Murray initially had a quick 5-minute hearing test followed by a more in-depth consultation. He was fitted with state-of-the-art Phonak Micro Savia Art hearing aids in both ears.

Murray says: "My hearing is now so much sharper. When I wear my hearing aids I notice an immediately discernible improvement and they are so comfortable that I forget I have them in. The service at David Ormerod Hearing Centres was excellent and they actually cared about me as an individual and cared about making a difference to my life." Murray concludes: "I don't mind wearing hearing aids and I am really pleased that I have the best possible solution. If you cannot hear properly then you cannot communicate effectively and so your quality of life suffers. Modern technology means you can now do something about it, so what is stopping you!"

Some facts about Murray's

Savia Art™

David Ormerod Hearing Centres launched the Phonak Savia Art in January this year. Murray Walker was the first client to be fitted with the new product and it has proved very popular with customers since. It includes a 'No-Whistle' system to minimise the risk of embarrassing feedback and a 'SoundRelax' feature enabling unpleasant sounds to be suppressed without affecting the clarity of speech. It will also learn your own volume preferences and automatically adjust to them.

The little miracles of sound

The Audéo – a personal communication device

A common result of a full, active life is diminished ability to distinguish high-pitched sounds. These sounds are vital to our understanding of speech and convey the natural vibrancy of music and the world around us. The consequence: extra concentration required to follow conversations, especially in noisy settings such as restaurants, meeting rooms and family gatherings. Fortunately, this is where technological innovation can make a difference:

CrystalSound

Optimal speech clarity by digitally amplifying the subtle high-pitched sounds vital to understanding speech, so nothing gets lost.

Digital SurroundZoom

Effortless communication through automatic reduction of background noise using SurroundZoom technology to zoom in on the person you want to hear.

Audéo is unlike anything you have ever seen before. It contains the most sophisticated signal processing available to boost your understanding in difficult listening situations. It is so lightweight and comfortable; you might not even feel it. And since it is incredibly small, nobody will know you are wearing it, unless you just cannot resist the urge to show it off!
